OURNE

Notable

Like many churches, Calbourne's is closer to God than it is to the others that it is. All Saints' is on a baby is Christ the north door. So the north side of the church.

Outside

Inside

The church is and larger than and not the pews on the arches.

Calbourne is on a hill - some say this makes the church look more important and view. What do you think? The main door of the church is unusual. It is thought that when the devil leaves the child's body using the north door or to be buried on the north side of the church.

When people were too poor to have stone coffins, they used wooden ones instead. There are two graves like stone

The church's walls are painted white, this makes it feel lighter and brighter. A memorial of a knight, but he is on the wall. Also look for some graffiti of Carisbrooke Castle and lots of carved heads to find at the bottom of

The origins of the church

Calbourne is one of the five oldest villages on the Isle of Wight. Not long after the Norman conquest, William the Conqueror gave Calbourne to one of his uncles; this means that it must have been rich and important.

There is a silver cup used in the church services that comes from this time, but it is too valuable to be left in the church so it is in Carisbrooke Castle Museum.

The Victorian

The entrance to the church was changed just over one hundred years ago. The church was built by the Normans, around 1066. The parts can still be clearly seen and some people think this is unusual. What do you think?

On the inside the church is also unusual. Usually they just face the east.
