This task will help you to become more confident at persuading people to think that your ideas are brilliant!

TASK

Now that you have been to Robin Hill, you have to imagine that you have been employed by the owner of the theme park. Your task is to go and persuade other students of a similar age that Robin Hill is a place that they should definitely visit on their trip to the Isle of Wight.

You need to do a great job because you're up against other sales people and the children that you are pitching to are only allowed to choose one venue on their residential trip! You just HAVE to win!

IN SMALL GROUPS:

- » You are going to write a speech (to deliver to the students in the year below you) to try and persuade them that they must go to Robin Hill Country Park.
- » You are going to convert your speech into notes and provide any supporting material that you think would be beneficial for this task.
- » You are going to investigate some persuasive speeches so that you can use the same techniques when you write (and deliver) your own speech.
- » It is essential that you do your background research and use visual images to show pupils what a fabulous time they can have at Robin Hill. Think about the things that you enjoyed and be really enthusiastic about your experience so that it excites your audience.
- » You could use some photographs that you have taken, create a slide show, or show them parts of the web site. The choice is yours!
