History of Art: The Work of Artists

Contextual Summary

This is an art resource that engages children with their journey on a Red Funnel Ferry. The resource incorporates a pre-visit, on-site and post-visit element that enables children to learn about one artist's style and how it can link to the ferry environment.

Furthermore, it allows them to produce a piece of work in their style. The resource content is designed for students in key stage 1 and lower key stage 2.

Task Implementation

Prior to their trip, students should be shown a range of examples of work by the artist to be used in the task.

During their journey on the Red Funnel ferry, pupils can sketch or use a digital camera to capture a variety of images of shipping containers or other square or rectangular structures on the ferry.

At school, students will be produce their own image using the methods which enthuse them (choice of materials is up to the teacher).

Key stage 2 students could produce a second piece in the style based on something local they see regularly.

Links for student research can be found at www.edudest.uk/followup then type the resource code 10750.

Ability Levels

There are two versions of this resource, one for mixed ability students in key stage 1, and one for mixed ability students in lower key stage 2. Teachers can support as necessary.

Key skills practised in this unit:

- ▶ using a range of materials
- ▶ using drawing and painting to develop and share ideas, experiences and imagination
- ▶ developing a wide range of art and design techniques using colour, pattern, texture, line, shape, form and space
- ▶ learning about the work of a range of artists and making links to students' own work.

Relationship to Curriculum

The above skills are required to be taught and practised as per the National Curriculum / Curriculum for Excellence, for key stage 1 and 2 Art & Design.
