

Safe Haven! On sea, safety is a priority!

Student Introduction

- ▶ Have you got an eye for detail?
- ▶ Can you recognise how people are being kept safe?
- ▶ Can you identify the ways in which risks are being managed?
- ▶ Can you draw together information and present it professionally?

Teaching resources by Education Destination Ltd.

Curriculum relevant materials supporting school trips to the Isle of Wight

Book today with Education Destination and get full access to this and hundreds more quality resources

Imagine that you have been employed by Red Funnel.

www.edudest.uk

TASK

1

They want you to produce some promotional material (of your own preference) to show how their statement: "Safety is Red Funnel's first priority.." is reflected in their working practices.

As part of this task, you will need to look out for all of the things that Red Funnel are doing which are related to the safety of its customers.

Your investigation needs to start as soon as you enter the port:

- » You may notice that the staff are treating people in a specific way; you might notice certain signs which relate to keeping safe or you could listen to any announcements which are delivered over a P.A. system.
- » Once on board, you are then going to search the ship for anything which shows that Red Funnel is looking after the health and safety of its customers.
- » Photograph any evidence which you find so that you can use it when you get back to school. You could also make use of the table on page 2 should you wish.
- » Remember – you will need to search above eye-level as things aren't always right in front of you (and you will need to listen carefully to any information which is announced).
- » When you get back to school, you need to generate some form of promotional material (your choice, remember) which demonstrates how safety is a primary concern for the company.

